

ANNYA AND ALAN'S FOND FAREWELL

Well, the deportation papers have finally arrived and our beloved Annya and Alan are off to far away sunnier climates ..
O.k., maybe not that far away and definitely not that sunny either, but I don't think even the welsh rain will dampen their enthusiasm for their new home in Cyrmu..... .

Come April , the boxes will be unpacked, the dog should have settled in and the chickens will be happily roaming the garden. Even though the Stephens are moving away , swopping the sound of local police sirens in Bromley, for the baying of sheep in Wales ,they still intend to stay with the club and will see all their friends at Rallies and parties. Annya plans to continue working from home for 'Lifeblood' while Al potters in the shed and works on the construction of his boy-hood dream of a model railway in the garden...

Everyone wished the pair good luck, love and happiness in their new life, fond farewells and hugs were exchanged between old friends and the only tears shed were from Tyson when he realised he'd missed out on the last piece of cake. (you have got to be quicker than that, when jims about, son, ....)

Inset right:
Al and Roy discussing the finer points of 00 gauge track.
